Chemtrails heighten distractability & stress....

....by their capacity to lodge nano-sized particles of aluminum, barium, titanium and magnesium - along with various pathogens related to Morgellons disease - into the sinus passages and affect our psychic faculties of intuition, imagination and inspiration in an adverse way leading to distraction and ultimately greater stress.

The solution is to snort orthosilicic acid up each nostril with the use of a nasal inhaler to first spray a fresh batch of orthosilicic acid up one nostril and then quickly inhale that moisture to help draw it further upwards and more deeply into the five sinus cavities on each side of the face to moisten these nasal passages and nourish them with bioavailable silica which will bind with Chemtrail aluminum to form inert clay.

Of course, the orthosilicic acid I am referring to here is of the variety made according to my recipe at.....

....which includes a trace quantity of silver that will stimulate regeneration should the nasal passages be damaged from years of environmental or personal abuse.
